STORY OF A LEPER

Babcock, accompanied by the physician and his brother-in-law, boarded the steamer, and rode into the city. They were pelted with many questions en route by curious passengers, but answered all inquiries with a statement that their charge had been badly burned about the face.

Infected Man Taken Through City.

On arriving, the trio secured a cab and drove about the streets of Portland till the train for Port Townsend was due. From that Port, Babcock was taken aboard a lumber schooner bound for the Hawaiian Islands. The leper, in due time, stepped from the gangplank upon his native heath to face again the life of an exile on the leper island of Molokai.

Doctor Paine took occasion to study the general conditions on this leper island while there. It is a long, narrow strip of land, with a precipitous mountain separating it in the middle. On one side rich, fertile farming lands have been developed. On the other is located the leper settlement. Owing to the physical contour of the leper domain, it is next to impossible for the patients to escape from the settlement. Here the lepers pursue their avocations, and the island abounds in plenty. Inhabitants till the soil, and conduct mercantile enterprises, marry and give in marriage. Singularly enough, the offspring of a leprosy union seldom if ever develop the germ of the disease in after life, and where formerly there were 1000 lepers on Molokai Island, only 200 cases are now known to exist. The old traditional fear and dread of leprosy has abated with Hawaiians, who no longer consider the disease either dangerous or infectious. There are many patients of leprosy taint residing in Honolulu, while on the other hand scores of people who have no trace of this affliction, live from year to year in perfect immunity in the leper colony.

The father and mother of Babcock are a normal, healthy couple who are at a loss to explain the plight of their son. Other children of the couple bear no trace of the malady which has afflicted him.

Honolulu maintains a very active and efficient board of health, whose duty it is to make a special study of leprosy. These researches have been so thorough and exhaustive that a statement was recently issued from its laboratory to the effect that the baffling germ of leprosy had at last been discovered. These medical authorities have long since disproved the common fallacy that leprosy is contagious; in fact they declare, officially, that tuberculosis is a great deal more to be feared by the layman.

Holt Schooling contributes to the Windsor Magazine (England) an interesting article on "Our Letters." The United States, it appears, receive more British letters and postcards than are received by any other nation. Rather more than 13 per 100 of the letters are dispatched to the United States, and the countries to which most of the letters are sent are the United States, France, Germany, Canada, Newfoundland, India, South African colonies, Australia, Holland, and Belgium. These nine countries receive, in all, nearly three-quarters of all the letters and postcards sent out of the United Kingdom. Some of the countries that receive fewest letters are Asiatic Turkey, Persia, Mexico, Central American states, Ecuador, Colombia, Venezuela. In a list of the countries that send most letters to Great Britain the United States again head the list, and they send more than 16 of every 100 letters received from over the sea. Countries that send more letters than are sent to them are the United States and Germany.

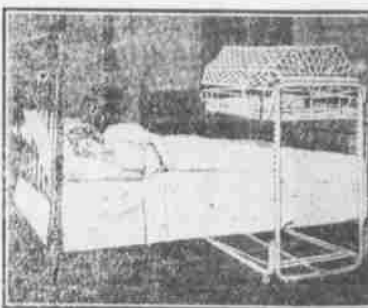

THE REFORMER SPEAKS.

He—I never could see any sense in that expression, "Six of one and half a dozen of the other."

She—How would you have it?
He—Why, six of each, of course.

SLOW
"Cholly seems to have a pull with Miss Cash, doesn't he?"
"Yes, but he hasn't push enough to ask her to marry him."

A Wonderful Crib—"The Taylor Nursery"
By placing it over the mother's bed, she has only to sit up, and can attend to the baby without taking it from the nursery bed. During the day the crib is out of the way. If she prefers, it can be placed alongside her bed—raised or lowered to any height. It's light in construction, and can easily be taken to any part of the house.

THE SAFETY HOOD

Is the most satisfying and perfect safety device ever known. A restless baby can't, in any manner, get out. Another feature is the large enough to hold all articles needed in the night. Everything for mother's and baby's comfort has been included in the building of "The Taylor Nursery."

SANITARY NIGHT-BOX

OUR GUARANTEE

If any "Taylor Nursery" is not exactly as represented, in every particular, you may send it back five days after receiving it, at our expense, and we will promptly refund your money. Be sure each crib bears this trademark.

THE GALLANT CABMAN.

Nothing, perhaps produces quite so much wit from a cabman as a sense of being underpaid, which in most cases means that he has been justly paid. A lady who had been guilty of this kind of justice experienced the usual sense of discomfort when her driver straightened the palm into which she had just dropped her shilling and looked at her speechlessly. She was weakly about to add another sixpence, when the cabby's sense of humor prevailed. He transferred the shilling to his pocket, and smiled sweetly down at his embarrassed fare. "Course, missy," he remarked, "there was the pleasure o' drivin' you!"—London Chronicle.
